VOICE #2: Yeees?

VOICE #1: World Book Day is coming.

VOICE #2: Uh-huh! So... So what?

VOICE #1: So, for those about to read books, we salute you!

VOICE #2: Uh-huh!

VOICE #1: Books are for reading. You like reading?

VOICE #2: It's okay, but I prefer eating pizza.

VOICE #1: What?

VOICE #2: Barbecue chicken, margherita, pepperoni...

VOICE #1: Yeah! Yeah! Yeah! I get the picture. Let's get back to the point... The International Day of the Book. Books are for reading and reading is for readers. Are you a reader who reads?

VOICE #2: You mean who reads books?

VOICE #1: Precisely!

VOICE #2: Uh! Well, you know, I have no time. Ha ha! Computer games, social media, streaming, and all that jazz! I have no time for reading books. And it's boring! So boring! Boring to death!

VOICE #1: Hmm! Some people like reading.

VOICE #2: Really?

VOICE #1: Yeap! And they love it!

VOICE #2: Are you kidding?

VOICE #1: Nope! They are called readers.

VOICE #2: Very impressive!

VOICE #1: You wanna be a reader?

VOICE #2: Can I?

VOICE #1: Yes, of course. Oops! Ahem, I've got something here.

VOICE #2: What the quack is that?

VOICE #1: It's a book and it's for you.

VOICE #2: Mamma mia! It's full of letters!

VOICE #1: Letters, words, and phrases. Sometimes even illustrations.

VOICE #2: And now what?

VOICE #1: What? What are you waiting for? Come on! Let it flow! Just read and fly, my friend. Let your imagination fly away!

VOICE #2: Is it possible?

VOICE #1: Everything is possible with the mighty power of a reader who reads.

VOICE #2: Uh-huh!
